

Learning German in Germany

How much German do you need to study or work in Germany and how to learn it

Eleni Roumpou / Brigitta

Alkofer / Olav Schröder

representatives of FaDaF e.V.

Studying in Germany

- German is generally required sooner or later
- German Language entry exams: DSH or TestDaF (or equivalences)
- Learning German is a unique intercultural experience and can be a decisive factor in your career

What is FaDaF e.V.?

- non-profit association of German Universities and quality institutes teaching German for students
- close ties to their local universities
- courses often take place directly on the campus
- All year long, quality course for academics at a reasonable price
- additional services like accomodation, excursions and many more!

FaDaF member institutes

- 8 member institutes (out of 123) from well known University cities are represented here by FaDaF (from the North to the South of Germany):
- Interkulturelle Bildung Hamburg
- Sprachenakademie Aachen
- IIK Düsseldorf
- Institut für Sprachen Kassel
- Uni-Service & Marketing Mannheim
- Deutschkolleg Stuttgart
- Deutschkurse für Ausländer München
- Humboldt-Institut Konstanz

Strategies to learn German

- The long way: Learn Germany and take the necessary exams in Greece (for example at the Goethe Institute)
- The fastest way: Come to Germany and take intensive courses in a University city (1-10 months)
- The intermediate solution: Take an intensive „Schnupperkurs“ or exam preparation course (2-4 weeks) in Germany and find out for yourself!

Conclusion

- German courses in Germany for students?

=> Choose among FaDaF's member institutes!

- Questions concerning the German language?

=> Come and see us at the German pavilion here

Conclusion

- No time now? See database on our website (www.fadaf.de) or database of the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) at www.summerschools-in-Germany.de

